

Sylvia Adameczak-Krysztofowicz

Professor at the Institute of Applied Linguistics (ILS) at Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań (Poland) and the head of the Department of Intercultural Glottopedagogy (from 2002 till now). From 2010 till 2019 she was the Institute's Deputy director for research and international exchange. She was a Research fellow at the European University Viadrina Frankfurt/O (Germany) (1999–2007), guest professor in Darmstadt (Germany) (2012–2013), and Marburg (Germany) (2015–2016). She has cooperated with international education centers in Berlin, Vienna, Malaga, Kiel, Darmstadt, Bielefeld, Sevilla, Greifswald and Marburg. Since 2017 she has been the Editor-in-chief for the international scientific journal Glottodidactica. An International Journal of Applied Linguistics. In the years 2014–2016 she was the leader of the Polish team in the RADAR (Regulating Anti-Discrimination and Anti-Racism) project, co-financed by the European Commission, which focused on hate speech and strategies for its prevention in selected EU countries.

Prof. Adameczak-Krysztofowicz is the author of three books and over 80 articles published in scientific monographs, lexicons or professional journals, the editor of four collective monographs and two issues of the Info DaF journal. She was also a section manager at two international IVG conferences (2015, 2020) and FaDaF conference (2020). Her research interests are: glottodidactics in general, didactics and methodology of German as a foreign language, intercultural glottopedagogy, intercultural communication, text didactics, language andragogy, study tours and Polish-German intensive exchange seminars and programs, hate speech.

Email: adamczak@amu.edu.pl

PUBLICATIONS FOR SCIENTIFIC DEGREES

PhD dissertation: „Authentische Texte als Quelle interkultureller Kommunikationskompetenz. Eine qualitativ-quantitative Studie der universitären Landeskundevermittlung im DaF-Unterricht in Polen” (Texts as bases for cross-cultural communication. A survey on cultural approaches in studying German as a foreign language in Poland. Hamburg: Dr. Kovač (302 pages, book in the German language)

Post-doctoral dissertation: „Fremdsprachliches Hörverstehen im Erwachsenenalter. Theoretische und empirische Grundlagen zur adressatengerechten und integrativen Förderung der Hörverstehenskompetenz am Beispiel Deutsch als Fremdsprache in Polen” (Foreign language listening comprehension in adult education. Theoretical and empirical foundations for the recipient-oriented and integrative development of listening comprehension competence among Polish learners of German as a foreign language. Poznań: Wydawnictwo Naukowe UAM (406 pages, book in the German language)