

WERKWINKEL REVIEW PROCESS

Werkwinkel follows the double blind procedure, using two external reviewers to review each publication. Texts in foreign languages are reviewed by at least one critic affiliated to a foreign institution other than the institution of the reviewed work's author.

Authors and critics do not know each other's identities and the names of reviewers of particular publications or numbers are not made known. A general list of reviewers is published annually on this website.

Reviews are submitted in writing and contain explicit conclusions either to admit the article for publication or to refuse it. Principles of a publication's appraisal are included in the peer review report document
